Project Guidelines

Chenyang Lu
Start Early and Work Often!

- Choose topics
- Put together a team
- Meet every week to coordinate
- Lots of development and experiments throughout the semester!
Proposal

- One proposal/team, two pages
  - Team members and responsibilities
  - Description of project
  - Research plan and milestones
  - Responsibilities of each member
  - References

- Written proposal due: 9/19th, 11:59pm
  - Email Chong
Proposal Presentation

- In class on 9/19th
  - 10 min per group (hard deadline)
  - including 3 min for questions
  - Your elevator pitch!

- Email Chong your slides by 11am on 9/19th
  - All use Chong’s laptop → reduce context switches
Demo I

- In class on 10/10 & 10/12.
- 15 min per team.
- Must show something real.
- Email Chong slides by 11am.
Demo II

- In class on 11/14 & 11/16.
- 15 min per team.
- Gearing up for the final demo.
- Email Chong slides by 11am.
Final Demo

- 1pm-4pm in Steinberg Hall 105, on 12/5th
- 15 min per team
- Test your demo in advance
- All expected to attend the entire session
- It’ll be fun! 😊
Final Report

Submit report and materials to Chong by 11:59pm, 12/7th

Report
- Style follows conference papers in the reading list
- 6 pages, double column, 10 pts fonts
- Use templates on the class web page

Supporting Materials
- Slides of your final presentation
- Source code
- Documents: README, INSTALL, HOW-to-RUN
- Video (if any)
Suggested Report Outline

Abstract

1. Introduction
2. Goals
3. Design
4. Implementation
5. Experiments
6. Lessons Learned
7. Related Works
8. Conclusion and Future Works
Peer Review

- For fairness in projects.

- Email me on 12/7
  - Percentage of contributions of each team member.
  - Brief justification.
Now let the fun begin! 😊

- Practice and set up your demo before your turn.
- Grab your snack and soda and sit back.
- Start the timer now.