

3rd ACM/IEEE Symposium on Architectures
for Networking and Communications Systems (ANCS), held on December 3-4, 2007 at Orlando, FL

Raj Yavatkar

General Chair

Symposium

- Brings together researchers in computer architecture and networking
- Explores the interdisciplinary issues spanning the two disciplines
 - New technology elements such as multi-core, multi-threaded processors, innovative memory architectures, and re-configurable logic raise a variety of new issues.
- Sponsored by ACM SIGARCH, SIGCOMM, and the IEEE Computer and Communication Societies
- Program chairs represent the two communities
